MARTIN FLEW TO AVALON TODAY

Aviator Made Trip Over Water, Thirty-Four Miles, in Thirty-Seven Minutes

WILL RETURN TO BALBOA TODAY

Stole March on Shaffert of Long Beach Scheduled to Fly Tomorrow

Springing a surprise upon everybody, Glenn L. Martin of Santa Ana today flew in his hydroplane from Balboa to Avalon, Catalina Island. Martin rose successfully from the water of Newport Bay, and headed across the channel for Avalon, where he landed safely and without the slightest trouble with his motor. He traversed the distance of thirty-four miles in thirty-seven minutes. Martin announced that he would fly back to Balboa this evening. Martin has long contemplated a flight to Catalina. Yesterday he made his first flight from water, demonstrating the success of his hydroplane. By flying to Avalon, Martin stole a march on Shaffert, who had announced that he would fly from Long Beach to Avalon tomorrow.

ROOSEVELT DESCRIBES SITUATION

Letter by the Colonel Published by Committee—California Campaign Closing

NEW YORK, May 10.—Declaring: "There's just one candidate that it is possible to nominate against the bosses—that's myself," Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter published today by the Roosevelt committee, expressed his opinion of Taft's attitude. The letter is addressed to Chairman Caswell, of the Minnesota Roosevelt committee. It declared that Taft is the tool of the bosses; that every vote cast for Roosevelt will tend to strengthen the hold of the "interests" on the people.

Following is the substance of Col. Roosevelt's letter: "Nine states have held some sort of presidential primary. With the exception of California, which holds its primary next Tuesday, these are practically the only states where a free chance to express popular opinion will be given. Forty of their delegates have been given to Taft, and 216 against him. He carried but two of the nine states, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. In these states three in every four Republicans voting were opposed to Taft. Taft's chances of renomination lie solely in his ability to control the Chicago delegates who misrepresent the will of the people.

"After a prolonged experience with me as president, practically all the big Republican bosses disliked me so heartily that they opposed Taft's nomination in 1908 because I favored it. After three and a half years' experience with Taft these same men now heartily favor his renomination. They opposed me four years ago, and they oppose me now. These bosses include Aldrich, Gallinger, Penrose, Lorimer, Guggenheim, Evans, Patrick Calhoun and the Espee crowd in California, and the Amalgamated crowd in Montana.

LA FOLLETTE ENDS TOUR IN THE NORTH

SANTA ROSA, May 10.—With speeches today in seven Napa and Sonoma valley towns, a night meeting at Oakland, Senator La Follette practically closed his Northern California campaign. Tomorrow he goes to San Diego, returning for a mass meeting at San Francisco on Monday.

ROOSEVELT'S NOMINATION IS ASSURED

"It is now absolutely certain that Roosevelt will win the nomination at Chicago, and his election in November will, of course, be a foregone conclusion," Gifford Pinchot. "I don't see how they can defeat Roosevelt now. Beyond all doubt, he will be the nominee of the Republican party," Medill McCormick. "I have from the beginning been confident of Roosevelt's nomination. The country is progressive, it wants Roosevelt, and the bosses can no longer thwart the people's will," Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge. "Our only task is to make Roosevelt's majority in California as telling as possible. There is no question as to his sweeping the state, practically every county in it," Governor Johnson.

The rioters were demonstrating about the mine when the police fired a hundred shots, and the mob then attacked them. A special train rushed state troops to the scene.

THE CALIFORNIA DELEGATION SUCCEEDS

San Francisco Mint is Saved by Decisive Vote in the House

SPEAKER CLARK IS GIVEN MUCH CREDIT

Left the Chair and Spoke and Lobbied For the Measure

WASHINGTON, May 10.—By a vote of 176 to 113, the House passed the Humpurey (Washington) amendment, which demands the continuation of coinage at the mints at San Francisco, New Orleans and Carson, and also the retention of six assay offices, including the one at Seattle. The amendment also provides an annual appropriation for maintenance. WASHINGTON, May 10.—Aided by the influence and direct personal efforts of Speaker Champ Clark, the California representatives won a decisive victory for the San Francisco mint yesterday, after a running debate of three hours on the floor of the House. During the entire debate, Speaker Clark, whose place at the presiding desk was occupied by Representative Underwood, moved about among his friends on the floor in earnest advocacy of San Francisco's chief Federal institution. When the count by tellers was called for in favor of the motion to restore the mint appropriation, Clark was the first in line, followed by a sufficient number of his Democratic friends to turn the tide against the measure of the appropriations committee, and to replace the San Francisco appropriation in the bill. The vote was 92 to 61, giving the mint a safe margin of 31 votes.

THE MILLIONS ARE THEIRS

Rudolph and Claus Spreckels Came Into Possession of Residue of Big Estate

SACRAMENTO, May 10.—Rudolph and Claus Spreckels and Emma Foris, their sister, today came into full legal possession of the $5,000,000 residue of the estate left by their father, through the Supreme Court decision which upheld the terms of their father's will. A final appeal by the elder brothers, John D. and Adolph Spreckels, for a rehearing of the case was denied by the court yesterday. The point had previously been determined when motions to dismiss the appeals on which the decision was based, was overruled by the unanimous vote of seven justices.

POPULAR SANTA FE AGENT HAS RESIGNED

ORANGE, May 10.—A. L. Hitchcock, for eight years agent of the Santa Fe here, has resigned his position. Hitchcock is one of the most popular Santa Fe agents in this end of the state. Floyd Honadel, aged 8, received a cut to the skull last night when he ran into a piece of machinery at the asphalt plant, where he was playing hide-and-seek.

CONDITIONS GROWING WORSE EVERYWHERE

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—Reports indicate that the food situation is becoming more serious hourly. A score of launches left here for upper state points this morning. Hundreds of refugees are being brought here. NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—The lives of twenty thousand people in the New Rhodes district are in actual danger from floods, according to reports from government agents in the stricken sections. Government officials here this morning ordered all available motor boats, launches and barges sent to the rescue. Thousands are still marooned and many are suffering from exposure and hunger. The breaks at Terras and Moreauville are increasing. Scores of homes have been swept away.

TOTAL MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Deposits in 7143 postal savings banks totaled $16,200,000 March 31, according to figures made public here by Postmaster General Hitchcock. New York and Chicago rank first and second respectively in deposits. Portland, Ore., is third.

IMPERIAL VALLEY IS REJOICING

EL CENTRO, May 10.—A telegram from Washington says the Mexican government has notified the state department that it will refer to a commission for immediate and final settlement all questions regarding the Imperial Valley canal right-of-way and division of Colorado river waters.

CONVICTS ARE FED ON FISH AND GAME

SAN QUENTIN, May 10.—The 1900 prisoners at the San Quentin penitentiary are strong in their moral approval of the custom of serving to them fish and game confiscated from law-breakers by state authorities. Trout, bass, quail, doves, venison and other delicacies seized upon illegal shipment were held in cold storage until sufficient quantity was secured, and the convicts were provided a real banquet. Warden Hoyle suggested the plan to the state fish and game guards.

THE EXPRESS COMPANIES TO SHOW UP BAD

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Inter-state Commerce Commissioner Franklin K. Lane is concluding an analysis of all the testimony in the express combine investigation. He may submit the results soon. It is believed then that the commission will issue orders placing new restrictions on the companies. It is expected that the report will show over-capitalization, exorbitant earnings and extortionate, unsystematic rates. Many congressmen believe this will sound the death knell of private express companies.

LIFE-SAVING CREW SWEEPED OUT TO SEA AND BELIEVED TO BE LOST

BAY CITY, Ore., May 10.—The life-saving crew of Barfield, Oregon, seven men and the captain, were swept out to sea and it is believed they are lost. The lifeboat slipped its moorings at the Whistling buoy in the mouth of the Columbia river.

The Unescapable Logic Of The Situation

Either Roosevelt is a Progressive, or else every other public utterance La Follette ever made about him, prior to the present personal rivalry, was false and insincere.

Either Roosevelt is a leader worthy to lead the Progressive cause and to receive Progressive support, or else La Follette's advocacy and praise of him were false and misleading.

Either the third-term bugaboo is not a sufficient obstacle, or else La Follette's personal offer to support Roosevelt for his nomination, as made to many persons, was an offer to commit the wrong he now seems to think is involved in the third-term.

Either Roosevelt is a Progressive and the pre-eminent Progressive leader, or else everything La Follette ever said about him until now is untrue.

Either Roosevelt is the Progressive leader, or else every other Progressive leader of national reputation is mistaken, for every one of them, except Senator La Follette, is now supporting Roosevelt.

Either Roosevelt is the leader of the Progressives, or else the Progressive rank and file, in almost every state where they have voted, are mistaken.

Either Roosevelt is the pre-eminent leader of the Progressive movement, or else that movement has neither leaders nor followers, principles nor votes.

Taft to the Rescue Of Commerce Court

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Many congressmen believe that President Taft will veto the entire legislative, judicial and executive appropriation bill rather than permit the abolishment of the commerce court. Congressman Driscoll of New York, who is close to the administration, is organizing friends in the house for a final fight. The plan is put to every congressman on record. It is learned today that there is a Democratic plan to attempt to abolish the tariff board, and consolidate the bureau of statistics and manufactures with the bureau of foreign relations, forming a new bureau of domestic and foreign commerce.

DEFEAT FOR REBELS AT TORREON

Thus Indicate All Late Reports of Fighting in That Vicinity

UNITED PRESS TALKS WITH GEN. HUERTA

Later Confirmation From Unquestionable Official Sources

EL PASO, Tex., May 10.—The first positive and direct news of the occurrences at Bermejillo, Mexico, where the Federals, under Huerta, are battling against Orozco, rebel general, was secured today, when the United Press correspondent talked personally with General Huerta over a telegraph circuit, via Laredo, Texas, and Torreón to the battlefield, Gen. Huerta said: "Federal General Robago completely routed the rebel advance party of a thousand at Zaragosa, killing ninety. Villa's cavalry chased the rebels to the hills. Tuesday night we heard an advance guard of rebels coming. Villa attacked their front yesterday morning, and Robago flanked with machine guns. The fight lasted until noon. The rebels suddenly became panic-stricken and fled like rats. We will not know until tonight when the main battle will occur. Our position is becoming stronger hourly. Since I have been talking to you a horseman has arrived saying Salazar's rebels have been routed at Cuatro Ciencas. You must excuse me from answering further questions now, but I promise to talk to you again tonight. I want Americans to know the truth about the situation here."

Mexican Consul Llorente has received from Torreón dispatches confirming the United Press reports of ninety rebels dead and 100 wounded in fighting around Torreón. Rebel headquarters at Juarez admit that the rebels received a slight reverse. Reports from Escalon say the rebels renewed the attack on Bermejillo this morning.

AN EARLIER REPORT

ESCALON, Mexico, May 9.—Fighting is in progress on every side of Torreón. The rebel lines under direction of General Orozco today completely invested the federal stronghold and in the early clashes severe losses are reported on both sides. The field hospital here received eighty wounded soldiers today, only three of whom were federals. They were wounded in the opening skirmishes between the scouts and advance guard of Orozco's troops.

Orozco is at Bermejillo, where he unexpectedly encountered a brigade of federal regulars strongly entrenched. Reports from his scouts had led to believe there were no federal troops in strength outside of the Torreón fortifications.

Orozco Makes Advance
Advices late tonight do not state whether Orozco dislodged the enemy at Bermejillo. Certain it is the federals have been cut off from all communication from Torreón, and this apparently means Orozco has pushed a column past Bermejillo to the eastward and attacked the garrison from the south.

Late telegrams from Orozco headquarters state that two columns of 1000 each had moved upon Torreón, one east and the other west from the railroad, and that 3000 troops composed the vanguard moving along the line of the railroad and apparently destined to make a frontal attack.

2000 Men in Guard

The rear guard strung out along the line of the railroad and flanking the road east to west, is a corps of 2000 men acting as Orozco's support or reserves.

CHIEF DEPUTY OF STATE OFFICE HERE

E. M. Merrill of Sacramento, chief deputy of State Horticultural Commissioner Cook, spent two days this week in the orchards of this county. He was shown about by County Horticultural Commissioner R. K. Blahop. Orchards at Placentia, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana, Tustin, El Modena and Villa Park were visited. "You have a fine county here," said the chief deputy as he departed for San Diego. Merrill's object was to get acquainted with this section.

AT THE COURTHOUSE

AS YET UNABLE TO SECURE A JUDGE

Dr. Menges Leaves Olographic
Will—His Estate Valued at Over $68,000

The superior judges of this state seem to be busy people, for the governor's office has found it difficult to find a judge with leisure to come to Santa Ana to help get rid of the congestion of the local superior court. With his calendar crowded, Judge West set many cases for May and June, and made an appeal to the governor for aid. The governor replied that he would endeavor to get a judge from some other county to come here. So far efforts to find an available judge have failed, as shown by the following telegraphic message received by Judge West, dated Sacramento: "Have made every effort to secure a judge, thus far without success. Will continue and wire you immediately upon being successful."

"FRANKLIN A. GRIFFIN, Executive Secretary."

Many of the small counties of the state have not enough business to keep their judges busy. All of these have been assigned to the crowded courts of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles.

Dr. Menges' Will
The olographic will of Dr. M. A. Menges, who died on May 2, 1912, was filed for probate today, the petitioners being the widow, Mrs. Stella Menges, and son-in-law, Charles H. Taylor, with H. C. Head attorney. According to the petition the estate is valued at $68,271.92. The will states that its provisions were drawn with the consent of Mrs. Menges, to whom her separate property and a portion of the property were transferred before Dr. Menges' death. The will provides that the estate shall pass into the hands of trustees until such time as the youngest child, aged 6, shall become 18 years old, at which time it shall be divided one-sixth each to the widow and each of the children, Mrs. Nina Taylor, Mark M., George M., John B. and Helen. From the income there shall be set aside $2000 yearly for the support of the family and $3000 for the education of the minor children. George M. is to be allowed $8000 for a start in business. The estate's half interest in the southeast corner of Main and Fifth streets is listed in the petition at $15,000. Eighty shares in the Santa Ana and Fresno Land Company are listed at $12,000. Other real estate, stocks and cash make up the remainder.

Pioneer's Estate
Mrs. Maria L. Harris has petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of her husband, Richard T. Harris, who died on November 25, 1911. Administration is asked only on twenty acres of land adjoining the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Company, valued at $5000. Scarborough & Forgy are attorneys for the petitioner.

Partners Suing
E. B. and G. H. Finley and F. Vincent have brought suit against G. W. Wright, who with them owns a stallion. The plaintiffs own three-eighths interest, and Wright, having bought the interests of W. J. Renn, Harry Baum and Frank Vlasschaert, owns five-eighths. The stallion cost $800. The plaintiffs assert that Wright maintains possession of the stallion, and refuses to render accounts but wants the plaintiffs to contribute to the expense fund. The court is asked to appoint a receiver. H. C. Head is attorney for the plaintiffs.

Withholds Sentence
Judge West this morning withheld sentence upon James Seeley, who pleaded guilty to assault upon James Gillespie. Seeley is to report once a month to Probation Officer Scott. H. D. Connell, W. B. Williams, A. J. Smiley, R. R. Smith and George McPhee testified as to the good character of Seeley, Attorney Daniels questioning them. The order of the court was that sentence be withheld six months.

First Papers
First papers of naturalization were taken out today by Joe Mari Tourter, aged 35, native of France, resident of Westminster, in this country since 1903. First papers have been taken out by Artley L. Elmes, aged 30, orange packer of Fullerton, native of Canada, here since 1911, and by August H. Junge, aged 33, a carpenter of Orange, native of Germany, here since 1910.

BLOODY FINGER PRINTS A CLUE

Finding of Body of Murdered Woman in Vacant House is Deep Mystery

BEER BOTTLE WAS USED BY MURDERER

Man and Woman Were Seen About the Place—Description of Man Wanted

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—The police admitted this afternoon that they had not found any clues which would aid in identifying the woman whose body was found in an unoccupied bungalow on Arlington street, with the clothing burned to the knees in an evident attempt to burn the body. Bloody finger prints on a beer bottle lying by, furnish a clue for the homicide experts.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Mystery surrounds the finding of the body of an unidentified woman, murdered by an unknown man, at 1465 Arlington avenue yesterday afternoon. The woman's skull had been broken, and the murderer attempted to burn the body and the house in which the tragedy occurred. The house was recently completed and had never been occupied.

The body was found by Finis Benjamin, a carpenter's apprentice, who went to the place to see the tinting on the walls.

The body was lying in a hallway on the upper floor, the head in a pool of congealed blood. Parts of a broken beer bottle lay about, and there were evidences of a struggle. The woman's empty purse was near.

The man believed to be the murderer is described by three persons living on Arlington street, as a stocky, florid-faced person of medium height, dressed in a dark blue suit and brown felt hat. He got off the Vermont-avenue car at Arlington street Tuesday night at 11:50 o'clock, carrying a suitcase, and accompanied by the woman, proceeded south to the house, which is two blocks from the car line.

The finding of a suitcase in the weeds at the junction of the Los Feliz road and Monte Vista station on the Glendale car line, may have some bearing on the case.

"The owner may have this, as I am going straight to hell—Thomas C. Butt," was the inscription scrawled on a note, found inside the suitcase, which contained men's clothing.

The woman's body had been partially covered with floor paper and was then set afire.

The asbestosized paper was barely charred, but the woman's skirts were almost burned off and her lower limbs charred. The ignorance of the murderer regarding the quality of paper he had used to make a funeral pyre prevented the destruction of the house, the burning of the body and the covering up of the crime.

Finger prints in the blood were also found on the window sill on the landing. These may yet identify the man.

The woman's hat, a blue straw affair, with a plumes feather on each side, was ten feet away from the body. She was dressed in a blue-velvet suit, white shirt waist, black No. 5-A shoes marked 37-1K, $15.88, 64, blue veil and white silk elbow gloves. She wore around her neck the emblem of two Catholic orders, a Sacred Heart badge and an emblem of the Holy Name parish, Chicago, Ill. A leather purse, two handkerchiefs, with the laundry marks "C.D.X." and "X4X" were found.

The woman was 30 to 35 years of age.

TRI-COUNTIES ASSOCIATION

Goes on Record For Three Water Commissions For the State

At the meeting of the Tri-Counties Reforestation Committee at Placentia yesterday, the association went on record as favoring three water commissions—one each for northern, central and southern California.

This action was taken while studying and considering the proposed water bill which is being prepared by the State Conservation Commission and which provides for a State commission of three members.

The Tri-Counties Association based its action on the assumption that the work of the water commission under the bill creating it would be of such great volume that a single commission could not perform it, and on further ground that the great difference in conditions in the different sections of the state made it necessary for each of the three sections indicated to have a commission composed of local men.

Many other recommendations of a technical nature were made and the bill is to be further considered at a meeting to be held in Riverside May 18.

E. E. Keech of this city was appointed to represent the association at a meeting of the Conservation Commission in San Francisco May 27. The association voted to furnish two patrolmen to work with the federal forest service during the coming summer and President Cutler agreed to furnish a third. One or two more will be furnished by San Bernardino County. These extra men will be assigned to duty in the upper Santa Ana Canyon.

An experiment will be made by the government this summer in the use of goats in cleaning up and widening fire brakes.

The attendance at the meeting, held in the new Woman's club house in Placentia, was large and great interest was manifested in the proposed new water law.

ANAHEIM PLANS FOURTH OF JULY RACES AND DOINGS

Anaheim Plain Dealer: A big Fourth of July Celebration, combining all the good old time features of such an event, as well as the more modern attractions, is now under consideration for Anaheim, with every indication pointing to the plans being matured within the next week and the work being taken up that will be necessary to make the history of the city.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles is to be credited with the first move in the direction of a Fourth of July celebration in the city this year. Since then automobile people have been interested and are already at work to the end of securing the presence here of racing cars to enter several events that are planned. An aviation exhibition and flight is also under consideration, and preliminary steps have been taken by Aviator Newcombe to the end of bringing about this feature.

The plans of the Eagles contemplate picnic, dancing and confetti battle features, afternoon and evening. Also they will undertake to secure the presence of a variety of street attractions, when they decided definitely to go ahead with the program now under consideration. A parade and speaking will be morning features.

With the attraction of automobile races such as it is certain can be brought off here, it is safe to say that between fifteen and twenty thousand people would be brought to Anaheim for the day from all over

Races that are under consideration include a high speed car event, a stock car endurance run, and two standing start class car races over a mile course. Exhibition miles over a short course are contemplated as an attraction to be furnished by the racing cars of the high speed class. Two entries in this class have already been assured, one being a Colby car good for 105 miles an hour.

CONSERVATION OF BIRDS IMPORTANT

California Fish and Game Commission Points Out Value to Farmers

The California Fish and Game Commission has issued the following:

"We are living in an age when the question of conservation is one of vital importance, and concerning this question Gifford Pinchot has said: 'Our greatest problem in connection with the conservation of our natural resources, is the preservation of the wild bird life of our country.'"

In order to realize how essential is conservation along this line, let us consider how it affects our daily lives, and the interests thus involved. Here we have a question of national importance, for the birds are one of the country's most valuable economic assets, because of the close relation which they bear to all forms of agriculture.

As the foundation of the wealth of this country is in its agriculture, so the national prosperity must depend largely on the success of this industry. This has been proven again and again, for invariably with the failure of crops comes the cry of "hard times." So we can readily see that this question affects not merely the farmer, but the banker, manufacturer and tradesman as well. In fact, it matters not what our daily work may be, we are all primarily dependent upon the success of agriculture.

President Taft in an address on "Conservation of Soil," states that in 1911 there were 873,729,000 acres of farm land in the United States. Every acre of this land has its host of insect, weed and rodent foes, which cause a yearly loss to the agricultural interest of our country of over a billion and a half dollars. Dr. T. S. Palmer, of the U. S. Biological Survey, has said: "Among the most potent agents in checking such losses are insectivorous and seed-eating birds, and the importance of their preservation, while difficult to measure in dollars and cents, is self-evident."

With the introduction of new crops has also come the introduction of new pests, examples of which are the Hessian fly, San Jose scale and codling moth. These usually go unnoticed until they become too numerous to be exterminated. Once established, however, they are here to stay and add their toll to the immense loss already levied on the farmer and fruit grower by native insects.

While much time and money are being spent in trying to find artificial methods of destroying these pests, we too often overlook one of nature's means of controlling them—the birds. While it may be an easy matter to destroy the birds on a farm, it is not so easy to control the insect, weed and rodent foes which are sure to follow such destruction. For it is a well established fact that the destruction of the useful bird life of this country has been followed by a marked increase in those pests which devastate the crops, and by subsequent loss to the farm and fruit grower. On the other hand, the protection of the useful bird population on the farm or in the orchard is sure to bring abundant reward, in the form of increased profits on crop return.

HELLMANS CONTROL 'NIGHT AND DAY' BANK

Purchase Interest Owned by L. C. Brand in the Institution

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Marco H. Hellman, representing the heirs of the late Herman W. Hellman, and W. H. Holliday, president of the Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles, have purchased from L. C. Brand a controlling interest in the All Night and Day Bank.

It is the intention of Messrs. Hellman and Holliday to reorganize, increase the capital and change the name from the All Night and Day Bank to the Hellman Commercial Savings and Trust Bank.

L. C. Brand will remain with the bank, and will be one of the vice presidents. Mr. Brand's large outside interests have made it impossible for him to give to the institution the necessary time and attention. However, under his administration the bank has been put in good condition, the deposits at the present time being about $2,700,000.

The capital will be increased immediately from $250,000 to $500,000, and as occasion requires it will be further increased to $1,000,000.

The present banking hours of the All Night and Day Bank are from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. It is probable that the hours will be changed, the bank to open at 8 a. m. and to close at 8 p. m.

Difficult Scriptures on Hell.

A little Book selling at only ten cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information respecting the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is NOT a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the TOMB, the GRAVE, THE STATE OF DEATH. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but quotes the Scriptures proving that he was REDEEMED from the GRAVE at the cost of his Redeemer's LIFE and that the Scriptural Hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Not Rot, Nor Sympathy

Teacher—Willie, did your father cane you for what you did in school yesterday?

Pupil—No, ma'am, he said the licking would hurt him more than it would me.

Teacher—What rot. Your father is too sympathetic.

Pupil—No, ma'am; but he's got the rheumatism in both arms.—Lippincott's.

OXYGEN INTOXICATION

It was recently asked if the authorities in charge of the Olympic Games this year, to be held in Stockholm, would permit the competitors to carry oxygen bags to take whiffs from while they run; it was contended—and this by so eminent a scientist as Sir Edwin Ray Lankester—that "as oxygen gas is not a drug, but as natural an article of consumption as water, there seems to be no reason why the runner should be disqualified from refreshing himself with it, as he may with water or soup." Oxygen gas is a drug in the sense that it has value in cases of impaired respiration, such as comas and lobar pneumonia. Otherwise pure oxygen is as harmful as any stimulant, for the stimulation is followed by depression. Frequent intoxication by this means must inevitably exhaust the vitality and shorten life. Nor is it true that "pure oxygen is as natural an article of consumption as water." Oxygen is safe for those in health only in its mixture as atmospheric air, with several parts of nitrogen. This is the only suitable form of oxygen inhalation for normal individuals—the form to which human and all other life has during the ages become adapted. Meddling with nature is bound to be disastrous in the long run. Athletes have before this been given "jags" of undiluted oxygen to stimulate them to outdistance their opponents. But The Journal of the American Medical Association thinks that such oxygen-made records will not for a moment stand in the estimation of a true sportsman, because they are not made under the conditions with which human life must ordinarily cope. Besides, such "sport" must inevitably invite collapse, ruined heart muscle and premature death.

THE RECORD TO DATE

While claims and counter claims can be made for different candidates with impunity, the record of the delegates to the Republican National Convention already selected is available and shows to everyone the exact status of the different candidates. The record is unhampered by the wild claims and hopes of partisans and shows that the 810 delegates already selected are divided as follows:

Instructed for Theodore Roosevelt, 246; instructed for William Howard Taft, 161; instructed for La Follette, 36; instructed for Cummins, 10; uninstructed 108; contested, 149. Two hundred and sixty-eight delegates are still to be chosen. 540 delegates are needed for a choice.

This is the plain record stripped of all claims or hopes.

Roosevelt's instructed votes are as follows: Alabama 2, Illinois 56, Indiana 11, Kansas 18, Kentucky 3, Maine 12, Maryland 16, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 10, Mississippi 3, Missouri 22, Nebraska 16, New Mexico 6, North Carolina 24, Oklahoma 16, Oregon 10, Pennsylvania 67, South Carolina 14, Tennessee 2, Vermont 4, West Virginia 16. Total 346.

Taft's instructed votes are as follows: Alaska 2, Colorado 6, Connecticut 10, Georgia 12, Hawaii 6, Illinois 2, Indiana 11, Iowa 16, Kansas 2, Kentucky 19, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 14, Missouri 2, New Hampshire 8, New Mexico 2, New York 2, Oklahoma 2, Pennsylvania 9, Rhode Island 10, Vermont 4. Total 161.

La Follette's instructed votes are: North Dakota 10, Wisconsin 26. Total 36.

Cummins' 10 votes are from Iowa. It is generally conceded that these ten votes will go to Roosevelt whenever it is necessary.

The uninstructed votes are as follows: Connecticut 4, Delaware 6, Georgia 4, Missouri 4, New York 88, Virginia 2. Total 109.

It is generally agreed that one-third of New York's uninstructed 88 are favorable to Taft; one-third favorable to Roosevelt, and the remaining one-third an unknown quantity.

The contested delegations are as follows: Alabama 60, District of Columbia 2, Florida 12, Georgia 10, Indiana 8, Kentucky 4, Louisiana 20, Michigan 6, Mississippi 17, Missouri 8, South Carolina 4, Tennessee 14, Virginia 22. Total 149.

Former Senator Charles M. Belshaw, who with a great blare of trumpets was announced some weeks ago by the reactionary papers as the president of a "Taft Progressive Club" has thrown up his hands. Belshaw admits openly that the "Taft Progressive Club" is an imaginary organization, and that he is sick of the methods of Gillett, Hatton, Hammond and others who are conducting the Taft fight in California.

SOCIETY

THE SHAW WHIST PARTY

Spring-Time Decorations Mark One of Most Delightful Events of Social Season

Breathing the very atmosphere of radiant spring, a profusion of greenery mingled with roses pink, roses white and roses yellow, transformed the spacious rooms of the L. L. Shaw house into almost the semblance of out-of-door bowers, when Mrs. Shaw and her daughter, Miss Faith, entertained delightfully yesterday afternoon with a progressive whist party.

Greeted ere they entered the home by the vivid red of cheerful geraniums that grow in banks close up to the handsome house, the guests wended their way, to the upper floor through hallway and stairway wreathed with ropes of asparagus ferns and beautified with masses of lovely pink roses in baskets at either end of the upper hall. Pink Cecil Bruner roses nodded from baskets in the bedrooms, while below stairs were baskets of white Le Marque roses in the spacious living room, pink Cecil Bruners massed in baskets in the den and dainty yellow roses with their foliage trailed across the lace draperies of the big windows of the dining-room. Asparagus ferns twined gracefully over picture moldings, plate rails and mantels, completing a charming decorative ensemble.

The engrossing whist games kept players at sixteen tables interested through the afternoon until half-past four when prizes were awarded.

At the conclusion of the game when scores were counted, Mrs. John Wehrly held high and was awarded a very beautiful modern madonna framed in brass.

The second scorer was Mrs. P. R. Reynolds and the prize a dainty hand-painted pin tray.

Mrs. H. H. Reeves' consolation trophy was a pretty jardiniere.

When the jolity that always attends the awarding of prizes, had subsided, the card tables were pressed into service for the serving of a delicious three-course collation. The hostesses were assisted in scoring and serving by Mrs. C. S. Riggs, Miss Ely, Miss Shure, Miss Grouard and Miss Margery Shaw.

Afternoon Whist Party

Mrs. Henry Diers and Mrs. Frank Ey were hostesses at a very pretty whist party given at the Ey home on East Ninth street yesterday afternoon. The living rooms, where eight tables of players were seated, were attractively decorated with pink and white Naman Cochet roses and ferns. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Arthur Pease and Miss Pauline Reinhaus. At the close of the games, Mrs. Crockett Bowers was found to have high score, and was presented with a hand-painted plate. The second prize, a hand-painted cup and saucer, was won by Miss Blanche Tiede, while Mrs. Charles Twist was consoled with a dainty after-dinner coffee spoon. Mrs. Arthur Pease and Miss Pauline Reinhaus received beautiful silver spoons in appreciation of their assistance. Delicious refreshments were served on the small tables.

The invited list included: Mesdames A. A. Avery, Mary Crawford, A. L. Cole, Max Reinhaus, I. D. Mills, T. A. Winbiger, L. Berlin, Mary Rowell, O. M. Robbins, Ana Vandermast, Arthur Pease, E. A. "I Rather Like That Way of Buying Clothes"

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES are the result of years of scientific study of young men's forms and ideas. If you've never worn them, you'll be surprised how wonderfully they adapt themselves to your figure. The tailoring is as fine as human hands can produce.

The best clothes that expert tailors know how to make are ready to try on—and you don't have to buy until they have made good on your own figure.

Good clothes take time. More time is spent designing, molding and perfecting a Society Brand suit of clothes, and you can buy them satisfactorily in no time.

The next time you want to see how you look in the latest fashion in suits, step into the store of

Vandermast & Son

and enjoy the privilege of trying on as many as you like until you find "your" suit.

That's the way to buy a suit of clothes.

Ninth Birthday Honored

Miss Mirrie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson of East Pine street, was hostess Thursday at a charming party celebrating her ninth birthday. An hour was spent on the lawn playing games and dancing around a may-pole where the whole party had its picture taken. Then came the welcome call to supper. This was served at a table presided over by a pink-robed doll May queen and beautiful with pink roses. In the center was the birthday cake decorated with nine candles and wreathed with pink roses. The refreshments were delicious cake, ice-cream, and nuts and candies served in dainty pink and green individual baskets. After more games and a piano solo by Miss Mirrie, the little guests reluctantly said good-bye, all declaring that they had had a delightful time.

Those present were Misses Mirrie and Jeanne Wilson, Rheta Reed, Mary Geyer, Dorothy Duggan, Velda Fuller, Josephine Scott, Valeta Smith, Elizabeth Bruner, Paula Krieger, Mildred Joyce, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Blee, and Miss Johnston.

Brother of Man Who Killed
Juan Orosco is Given Sentence For Petty Larceny

Jose Borrego, brother of Rafael Borrego, who is serving a seven year sentence in San Quentin for the murder of Deputy Constable Juan Orosco at Los Alamitos, was today sentenced to three months in the county jail for stealing part of a bicycle yesterday from Rafael Verdugo of Garden Grove.

Borrego was at Garden Grove in a buggy. The rear wheel was removed from Verdugo's bicycle at a tent near where Verdugo was working. This morning Constable Jackson learned that Borrego lived at Long Beach. The officer and Verdugo proceeded to Long Beach in an automobile. They found the stolen wheel hidden under a sack. Borrego was arrested in a beet field near Los Alamitos.

THE ARCHBALD
INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The investigation of the charges against Judge Archbald of the Commerce Court was continued before the House Judiciary Committee. Edward Williams was recalled to the stand and cross-examined in regard to Archbald's alleged negotiations for the purchase of the Erie railroad's culm coal pile at Moosic, Pa., for $8000, which he could sell for $20,000.

A little boy once asked his father if he were to have a third eye where he would prefer it, and the father said in the back of his head, so that he could see what was going on behind him. Then the father said, "Well, my boy, where would you prefer a third eye?" The lad replied, "I would like mine on the end of one of my fingers, so that I could stick it in through a crack in a baseball fence and see the game for nothing."—Harold F. SOON CAUGHT
AFTER BREAK

Mexican Gets Away From the Rockpile Gang, Changes
Pants and Hides

Guadalupe Vega, serving a sentence for carrying a revolver at Aliso, made an unsuccessful effort to break from the rockpile gang last night. Deputy Sheriff Stacey had led the gang from the rockpile, located in the yard back of the city jail near the southeast corner of Third and Sycamore, and had turned back to lock the door when Vega ran around the corner and went east on Third. He was seen running up the back stairs of the old iron building.

Stacey was joined in the search by Deputy Sheriff Squires. The doors of most of the rooms were locked and an old Mexican woman refused to open them. Squires kicked in the doors of two rooms, and then the woman opened the others.

In the meantime Stacey searched the yards and rear of the building. Against the shack at the back of the city jail lot is an old building, and against it was an old door laid wide. Stacey saw a pair of brogans sticking out from the hiding place. He threw down the door, and before Vega knew he was discovered, Stacey had him held down with his foot across Vega's neck.

Vega evidently had a confederate, for in the interim he had discarded his jail overalls, one leg tan and the other blue, and had donned another pair of pants.

BREA: YOUNG TOWN WITH A FUTURE

CENTER OF TWO HIGHLY PROSPEROUS SECTIONS

Famous Oil Fields and Rich Farming Country Pay Tribute to New Business Center

La Habra Valley, that beautiful, narrow strip of country between the frowning range of hills that fringes the northern edge of the county and the lower hills which mark the beginning of the coast slope, has long been known as a section of marvellous richness and productivity, and is becoming more so every year.

The Fullerton oil fields, covering the upper part of this valley and the hills adjacent, have for years poured out a steady stream of wealth—a stream which has been growing year by year and has not yet reached its maximum, probably not by a large margin.

Thus are united in one unbroken stretch the two sources from which all wealth is primarily derived: the surface of the earth and the interior of the earth.

And the center of these is Brea. This latter statement will come doubtless as a surprise to many who consider themselves fairly well versed in the progress and development of Orange county, for less than a year ago autoists passing over the road which leads through the hills from the coast section to Pomona and beyond, might have driven over the spot where now is the center of a thriving business community without any strong suspicion that ever there would be a town there. The now bustling and prosperous town of Brea is a comparatively recent manifestation of the rapid expansion and development of Orange county's apparently limitless resources. There was need on the spot for an active, progressive business community, and the active, progressive business community promptly sprang into existence to meet the need. That the town is destined to take an important part in the future commercial and development activities of the county may be easily ascertained by any one who will take the trouble to study surrounding conditions.

It has been many years since the first oil well was "brought in" in what is known as the Brea canyon section, and a search started for the riches concealed beneath the bosom of the earth; a search which has spread steadily until the present day. It has been many years since the first well was put down in what is known as the Olinda section. At that time the Olinda and Brea canyon sections, all part of the Fullerton field, were separated by several miles of territory not considered at that time by oil operators. Now it is impossible to tell where one stops and the other begins, and still the seekers after hidden wealth are branching out farther from the original territory, usually with success. The full extent of the oil field is by no means known today.

The coming of hundreds of men into the field as employees, many bringing their families, brought large commercial needs, but towns were slow in springing up. Oil well people went to the previously established centers to do their trading, and supplies used in the field were brought from afar. Of late, however, there has become evident a disposition to change this order. One cause of this has been the rapid expansion of the field, and its output reaching a point where it became an important factor in the oil markets of the world. The makers of machinery and supplies used in the field saw the necessity of having establishments closer to the base of operations. The necessity of the people living in the fields demanded better facilities for doing their trading and having their general wants supplied. And so came the necessity of towns.

A Strategic Location
Some years ago when the Pacific Electric made a tentative survey for a line through the La Habra Valley and the oil country, a townsite was laid out close to where the town of Brea is. But the railroad was slow in building, and as there was no incentive for the location of business without transportation facilities the projected metropolis failed to materialize. Finally, however, the Pacific Electric built its line straight up the valley through Olinda. It was soon recognized that the strategic location for a town was at the junction of the main road through the valley, and that is where the town of Brea stands today. A syndicate composed partly of Los Angeles men and partly of residents of the section secured control of a quantity of land there, and last July the townsite of Brea was laid out by C. R. Thomas. Since then its growth has been such as to cause extreme gratification to its promoters and extreme surprise to those who view it for the first time. And that its growth in the future will be even more rapid than in the past is the conviction forced on one who observes conditions as they exist there today.

Of course, the foundation of Brea's existence and prosperity is oil. Just north of the town begins the producing leases of the Brea canyon field, with a forest of derricks dotting the hills and canyons. All about the town are leases held by one or another of the numerous companies operating in the field, and new development work is being started on these leases daily. As has been said, the limit of production in this field has not been approached as yet; in fact, it is only within the past two years that even its possibilities have been realized. New territory opened up within that period has resulted in the discovery of oil of a quality which was not supposed to exist in the field. The result has been that the demand for the product of the Fullerton field greatly exceeds the supply, and many of the companies operating there are today receiving top prices in the market for their product.

Long a Proven Field
The Fullerton field has long been proven, and one of its characteristic features is reliability. It is very few times in the history of the field that "dry holes" have been developed. The wells are noted for their long life, some of them having been producing for twenty-five years without showing signs of exhaustion. And the fact that the heaviest gushers in the history of the field have been brought in within the past few years is proof that the steady drain has as yet made small impression on the underground supply.

A short distance north of Brea is the lease of the Birch Oil Company, owner of the famous McAnders gusher, a well which is known far and wide, and which already has produced several fortunes. This well is now flowing 2400 barrels a day, or 72,000 barrels a month, and the oil is of a high grade which sells at present at about $1.05 per barrel. The company also has several wells pumping, the production of which is comparatively small. This is a close corporation, and no information as to the amount of dividends it pays is given out. The magnitude of the returns may be estimated, however, when it is considered that one well is giving returns of about $75,000 per month, whereas the original capitalization of the company was but $50,000.

The Union Oil Company, one of the largest corporations of the kind operating in California, has large holdings on three sides of Brea. This company, which was organized in 1889, now has twenty-three wells pumping, and from them has paid dividends totaling over $1,000,000. Its capital stock is $300,000. The Fullerton Oil Company has paid out over $600,000 and the Central about a million. These are companies operating largely or entirely in the Brea canyon field. Other instances might be given, but these are sufficient to show the magnitude of the industry.

A Logical Center
For the commercial and financial operations made necessary by this great industry the town of Brea is the logical center. This is the reason that, when the townsite was laid out last July, lots began to sell rapidly without any exploitation on the part of the promoters, and have been selling steadily ever since. Until only a few lots of the original plat are left, and other land for subdivision is being sought. The fact that most of the land surrounding the town is owned by oil companies, which refuse positively to sell any of it, makes this something of a problem, but that the town will expand further in the near future is certain.

It was on July 8 last, ten months ago, that C. R. Thomas established himself in a tent where now stands the handsome brick building of the La Habra Valley Bank, and "started" the town of Brea. The next day he sold three lots, and after that sales were rapid, people who had heard of the new town coming there eager to buy without solicitation. Residence lots were started at $250 and up, and business lots at $500. Now there are just a few residence lots left, and these are held at $350 and upward. The few business lots left in the original plat are now held at $1000. Many of the lots have been resold by the original purchasers, usually at an advance of 50 per cent and sometimes more. There is a building restriction of $1500 on all business lots, which has forced from the start the erection of structures of a substantial and presentable character.

A Hustling Community
The Brea of today impresses the visitors as a hustling, progressive and promising community. It has the opportunity there for the making of an active business town, and it has the people there who are ready and able to grasp the opportunity. The town today boasts a bank, a general store, a drug store, well equipped garage, two large oil supply houses, a lumber yard, livery stable, meat market, restaurant, barber shop and pool room, a department store is to be opened shortly in a large brick building just completed, and a building now in course of construction will be used for a modernly equipped hotel.

Other industries which are already assured the town promise large increase of activity in the not distant future. The Doubell Manufacturing Company owns a large tract of land near the railroad tracks which was purchased with the avowed purpose of erecting a factory for the making and repair of tools and implements used in the oil field of which has long been felt, as at present operations on a well are not infrequently delayed while waiting for necessary supplies to come from Los Angeles or farther. This company, it is believed by those in a position to know, will begin building operations shortly. The Los Angeles Ice & Cold Storage Company is also said to be preparing to establish a branch plant at Brea for supplying that section of the country.

Opportunities Are Many
The opportunities offered by the town to the business man and the investor are readily seen. In the oil wells surrounding the town are employed, it is said, about fifteen hundred men, all of whom earn good wages. These men and their families now have no place at home where they can do their trading, except as related above. The district is still expanding, still growing in population, calling for more homes and for more supplies for these homes. In the latter respect a peculiar condition exists in the oil fields. Many of the companies refuse to allow employees to live on their properties, and there are men now living in Brea who travel as far as four miles daily in order to reach their work. Many more would live there if they could find accommodations. There is a splendid opportunity in the town for the building of houses for rent. Such houses of this character as have been put up were invariably rented before they were finished, and there is an active demand for more. Even the man who buys property merely for investment purposes is abundantly assured of returns, for the reason that the amount of land possible to be secured for urban purposes is very limited, and the price is bound to advance steadily.

Good Business Openings
There are many good business opportunities in Brea today. To do their shopping, outside of the simpler necessities, the people now have to travel to a distance either by rail or vehicle. They wait the opportunity to spend their money in Brea instead of taking it out of the community, and frequently out of the county. One of the best openings existing at present, say residents, is for a combination furniture and hardware store. This is a need which is daily felt, and such an establishment, it is said, would command an active trade from the start. The town is also in need of a bakery to supply the local demand. A dry goods and clothing store probably would find a most satisfactory patronage. As a matter of fact, there is room for almost every standard line of business, and naturally the pioneers in each line will have the inside track when the town has become an important business center. For that Brea is going to grow, and grow a great deal, is a proposition easily proven by conditions there. Being, as has been said, at the junction point of the main lines of travel for two great producing sections gives it an advantage of location which is bound to mean progress.

Rich Farming Country
While the chief interest of Brea and the surrounding territory lies in oil, this by no means is the limit of its resources. On all sides of the town is a rich country, suitable for many lines of agriculture, and there are indications that before many years have passed no small amount of attention will be given to the citrus industry. It is the belief of those who know the country that it is admirably adapted to this purpose, but in the past there has been no way of securing irrigating water, and this has prevented the planting of orchards to any extent. Now, however, the East Whittier Water Co., which supplies the La Habra valley with irrigating water by means of a great pumping plant which brings the water over the hills, has extended its pipe lines to Brea, and there is now an abundant supply of water for irrigating. There are already several promising orchards in the vicinity, and that the territory is particularly adapted to citrus culture is illustrated by the fact that last winter, when crops were ruined and trees almost killed by frost in many sections, not a leaf was blighted in this territory.

While a great deal of the land surrounding the town is owned by the oil companies, much of this is available for purposes of agriculture. The companies have no use for the surface, and in many cases they are willing to lease it for cultivation. Most of the companies, however, refuse to grant leases for more than one year at a time, which makes the land unavailable for citrus or deciduous fruit culture. For grain and vegetables, however, it offers good opportunities, and probably much will be devoted to these crops in the coming years. South and east of the town there is a considerable quantity of level land which is available for purchase and which, say those who should know, offers splendid opportunity for citrus culture.

Taking on City Airs
Brea is a town which already is taking on many metropolitan airs and conveniences. The central blocks of the town are equipped with cement sidewalks and cement curbs, and others are to be laid. The Edison Company furnishes current for lighting houses and streets, and there is a proposition on foot to pipe the gas which now goes to waste in some of the near-by fields to the town for heating purposes. A telephone system, connected with the Fullerton exchange, keeps up ready communication with surrounding cities and towns. At present mail is delivered by a rural route passing right through the town, but application was made some time ago for the establishment of a postoffice, and it is expected that this will be granted soon. The Pacific Electric, which has a pretty and commodious station in the heart of the town, furnishes frequent communication with Whittier and Los Angeles in one direction and the Olinda country in the other. There is no doubt that before many years have passed this line of the Pacific Electric will be extended through Santa Ana canyon to the Riverside and San Bernardino country, thus putting Brea on an important trunk line of the system.

NEW BANK'S OPENING IMPORTANT STEP IN BREA'S DEVELOPMENT

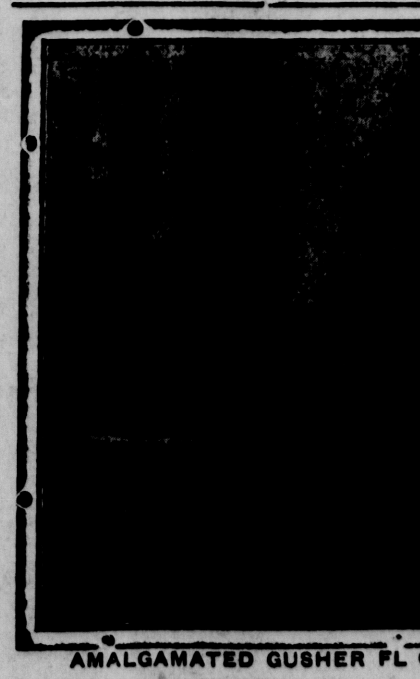

Brea took an important step forward last Monday morning when the doors of the La Habra Valley Bank were thrown open for business. This institution occupies a handsome and substantial brick building on the corner which at present is the center of the business district. Inside it is most attractively finished, the equipment throughout being on the most modern lines and such as to facilitate the transaction of business in the most rapid and convenient manner. The vaults embody the latest ideas in construction, and include safety deposit facilities, a feature which will prove of great convenience to the people of the section.

The bank is organized with a capital of $25,000, fully paid up. Its president is C. R. Thomas, a capitalist of Los Angeles, who was the chief mover in the establishment of the town. Dr. Thomas Davidson, a well known resident of the valley, is vice president and A. J. Olesen is cashier. The directors include well known men both of Los Angeles and Orange County. The management is such as to assure that the affairs of the bank will be conducted on a conservative, but progressive line.

From the time of opening the bank has done a lively business, which is increasing daily, and deposits have come in at the rate which have been highly gratifying. Large financial transactions which have formerly gone to distant cities will be conducted through this bank in future, to the material convenience and profit of those concerned. On Saturday, May 18, a reception is to be held in honor of the formal opening of the bank, at which time the public at large is invited to call and inspect the bank's quarters and vaults. A reception committee will be on hand to give visitors a warm welcome and light refreshments will be served.

BREA LIVERY AND TRANSFER COMPANY

The many visitors and business men who wish to make trips to the widely scattered leases of the oil fields make a well equipped livery service a prime necessity. The Brea Livery and Transfer Company, of which Leland M. Crookwell is proprietor, is on hand to meet this demand, and offers a prompt and reliable service. The company has in its barns vehicles of all descriptions, all in the best of condition, and a string of horses of the kind that a man likes to travel behind. Those wishing to hire conveyances, either with or without drivers, can find accommodations at this establishment at any time, and be sure of satisfactory service. The company also does a general truck and transfer business, and is ready at all times for either transient or contract service. It has a large and modern constructed barn in the center of the town, where rigs may be secured at any time.

BROWN & DAUSER LUMBER COMPANY A PIONEER CONCERN

One of the pioneer industries of Brea, and one which has had an important part in its growth and development, is the Brown & Dauser Lumber Company, of which Frederick Wick is local manager. This concern, which has its headquarters in Fullerton, is well known in Orange County and holds a high record for enterprise and liberal dealing.

Mr. Wick came to Brea when not a building was up, and has furnished the material for practically every building, either frame or brick, which has so far been erected in the town. By so doing he has demonstrated not only that he is determined to let no rival under-sell him in the market, but also that he is ready at all times to supply whatever may be needed in the way of building supplies. The company keeps in its Brea yards, a large supply of dimension lumber, and is always ready to supply at short notice anything in the way of mill work. Brick, lime, cement and whatever the contractor may need can be furnished on short notice, and the principle on which the concern has built its success is that quality and price shall always be right.

Mr. Wick, the local manager, is a firm believer in the future of Brea, and has shown himself at all times ready to do his share in any movement for the advancement of the town. In business dealings he will be found a courteous and accommodating gentleman, who has a thorough grasp on all details of the business.

BREA GARAGE IS FULLY EQUIPPED

Brea being on one of the chief automobile roads of the county, it is natural that the need of a garage should have been early felt there, and this need is well met in the establishment of C. P. Griggs. It is housed in a substantial and commodious building, with cement floor, and with all necessary equipment. Mr. Griggs, besides acting as the agent for various lines of standard cars, deals in motorcycles and all classes of motor supplies and accessories. Repair work is done by competent mechanics, and Mr. Griggs is now putting in additional machinery which will make the establishment in this respect the equal of any in the county. Autoists traveling this way may be assured of securing supplies of any kind needed, and prompt and efficient attention to repair work.

MODERN HOTEL IS TO OPEN AT BREA EARLY NEXT MONTH

One of the first questions asked by the prospective visitor to a new town is as to hotel accommodations, and Brea will soon be able to answer this question in a most satisfactory manner. A two-story building is now going up on the main street in which, probably early next month, the Brea Hotel and Cafe will open for business. It will be under the management of Mrs. N. F. Alford, who came to Brea about two months ago looking for a location, and was so much impressed with the outlook for the town that she determined to stay. She at once entered into negotiations for the construction of a hotel building, and pending this opened a cafe in the Sewell building. In this she was given little encour-

GOLDEN STREAM POURED FROM COUNTLESS OIL WELLS

Enormous Profits Made by Companies Operating in This Field—Where Public May Get in

That district which is known in the oil trade as the Fullerton field, comprising both the Brea canyon and Olinda districts, has been for many years a steady and profitable producer, but it has been only in recent years that it has come to be recognized as one of the world's great fields. In the past few years the field has been an expansion probably undreamed of by the early operators. New territory previously considered outside the productive area, has been taken in and has proved richly productive. In fact, some of the best wells in the field today are in territory which until a short time ago was not counted as workable.

And the end of the expansion is not yet. Oil experts who have gone over the ground have expressed the opinion that the full possibilities of the field have not yet been recognized. At present oil companies are going in every direction outside the really proven territory in search of new holdings, and competition is so keen that frequently prices are forced to an enormous figure. It formerly was the rule that an oil company could secure a lease on any property in the field for a royalty of one-eighth of the oil produced. Such is no longer the case. Royalties run at one-third, sometimes going as high as one-half, and in many cases owners demand and get a substantial cash price for the lease before operations are started.

Free From Wild-Catting
A feature peculiar to the Fullerton field is that it has been, practically from the start, free from wild-catting, which usually follows the development of new territory. This may be ascribed, in some measure, to the fact that the field has been a sure producer from the start, and available territory, as fast as it has become available, has been snapped up by big companies with vast capital behind them, which have held operations down to a close corporation basis.

From these very facts it follows that, despite the amazing richness of the field, the public at large has had very little opportunity to profit from one of the most profitable industries which Southern California boasts. Of the tens of millions in dividends which have come out of the field, the great portion has gone into the coffers of millionaire individual owners or great corporations, such as the Union and the Associated, each of which approaches the proportion of a trust. Then there are many small companies, owned by one or two men, which pay dividends of such proportions as to be almost fabulous, but in which not a share of stock could be bought at any price. Such, for instance, is the Birch Oil Company, owner of the famous McAnders well in Brea canyon—a well which has produced more than three-quarters of a million dollars in a single year. This company has a tract of only twenty acres, but it is estimated by oil men qualified to speak that the returns from this property are in excess of $100,000 per month, which would mean a dividend of 110 per cent monthly on the original capitalization. Then there is the Brea Canyon Oil Company, owned largely by Dan Murphy, which has paid in dividends $1,068,000 on a capital of $250,000, and is now paying 35 per cent yearly. It would be impossible to buy a share in either of these.

On the other hand, the Associated Oil Company, stock of which can be bought in the market, is a company with large profitable holdings, but its capitalization of more than fifty million in stocks and bonds is such as to bring the dividend rate down to a very small, and somewhat undrain rate, although the company is an eminently sound one.

Chances For Investment
In a survey of the whole field at present the investigator discovers the surprising fact that there is apparently only one company in the field which affords to the small investor an opportunity to place his money with a fair chance of securing some of the large returns which have characterized this industry in this field. That is the McAnders Oil Company, which has a lease on a forty-acre tract a quarter of a mile south of the Anaheim Union Water Company's property, which was recently developed into one of the most valuable in the field. This company has no vast wealth behind it, neither is it organized with an enormous capitalization to be unloaded on the public regardless of worth. It is organized on a business basis by experienced oil men, and is going at the development of its property in a business-like way, with every prospect of securing rich returns.

This company's property has been stated, is separated by only a quarter of a mile strip from the property of the A. W. Co., now under lease to Amalgamated Oil. This property was bought by the water company for a reservoir site, but was held for a number of years without producing any return. As the field expanded southward, however, the belief gradually increased that this land was oil territory, and the Amalgamated secured a lease under an agreement of one-eighth royalty. The first well put down proved a paying producer, and the third, which is known under the system of numbering used, as No. 4, proved a gusher, flowing from eight to ten thousand barrels a day until it was put under control. After the cap was put on the well, in position and inner casing were in place, there was a seepage between the casings which for a time amounted to about 2400 barrels a day, but which has now dropped to about 1200, the seepage being all the well is allowed to run. What its output would be if turned loose is beyond conjecture.

Fortune In One Well
A few facts about this well are of interest. It came in on December 23, 1911, and a liberal estimate of the cost up to that time is $28,000. Since coming in the well has flowed, at the most conservative estimate, an average of 1500 barrels a day, or a total of, say, 200,000 barrels. All this oil was previously contracted for at 80 cents per barrel, so that up to date the well has produced something like $160,000. And after first cost of installation there is practically no cost of operation.

The chief trend of expansion of the Fullerton field at present seems to be southward. And it seems that in that direction the oil strata have an upward trend. The No. 1 well of the Amalgamated was brought in at 3353 feet, No. 2, directly south, at 3296 feet, and No. 3, still further south, at 3121 feet. It is believed that the oil strata will be struck on the McAnders lease at less than 3000 feet. This property is bounded on the north and west by one of the Union leases, on which work is to be started shortly. To the southwest the Standard has secured a lease on some of the Chapman property, and is to start two wells immediately. Just south of this lease Dr. Wallworth is to start operations shortly. Across the road to the south from the McAnders lease is a tract of 100 acres owned by Mrs. Hetebrink. It is reported on good authority that the Standard has offered $2000 an acre for this property, but no deal has been made as yet, and the owner is said to be holding out for $2500 an acre. That the Standard is willing to offer such a price is proof that it has little doubt as to the productiveness of that territory.

The McAnders lease was secured on a basis of one-eighth royalty, having been given some time ago, and the company is particularly fortunate in being able to operate at a minimum of cost. On the east edge of the property runs the pipe line of the Anaheim Union Water Company, with which a connection has been made that will supply fuel oil to the McAnders tanks by gravity. The company has a splendid water well on the lease, which will be the aid of a small gasoline engine will furnish an abundant supply for development work. The running expense of the company, beyond actual cost of drilling, will be very light for the reason that, being organized on a business basis, it has no unnecessary salaried officers, the active manager, in fact, who is also the president, drawing only his actual expenses.

The company now has lumber on the ground and work has been started on the erection of the first derrick. The company's property slopes sharply from west to east, and Well No. 1 is being started on the high ground, the formation of the land here justifying the belief that oil will be found nearer the surface than in the flat. On the east there is a abundance of room for twelve wells, and sixteen might be put down without making them any closer together than they are in some parts of the field.

The McAnders lease, like some of the adjoining property, is considered practically proven territory. Of course, the producing field has not so far been actually extended that far south, but the geological formation is such as to give every indication of abundant oil in this section, and the opinion of experts of the highest standing who have gone over the ground is that it is only necessary to go after the oil to get it. The eagerness with which operating companies are taking up all available land to the south, west and east is evidence of their opinion as to the territory. A mile northeast of the McAnders property the Dorsay Oil Company recently secured a small lease. In the beginning it paid a heavy cash bonus, and contracted to pay a royalty of one-third the oil produced. This company is now drilling, but has not brought in a well as yet. The McAnders Company is capitalized at $750,000, of which one-half is held as treasury stock. There will be enough stock to pay the expenses of development, and should the first well prove a good producer, the amount required would be very small. And the smaller the actual capitalization, of course, the higher the dividends.

OUTLOOK FOR SUMMER UNUSUALLY GOOD

Attractive Residence Just Com-

Novel Features

While not in many months has there been a week in which so few building permits were issued as during the one just past, there is no diminution whatever in the general building activity the city over. In fact, it would appear that it has been necessary for permits to drop off a little in order to allow contractors and other branches of the building trades to catch up. Every contractor says he has his hands full, and local architects are working overtime preparing plans for projected buildings.

Only six permits were issued by Inspector Roper during the week ended last evening, and only two of these were for new buildings, one being a residence and the other the business block of John Avas, on West Fourth street, on which work has already started. The Santa Ana Steam Laundry Co. took out a permit for important alterations on its plant at Fifth and Broadway, which will give it better facilities for handling its large business. Other permits of the same nature made up the week's list.

Building contractors usually expect a lull to come during May and June, for the reason that many people are preparing for summer outings and do not care to start building operations at that time. However, indications are that there will be little decrease in activity during the coming summer. Plans which have already been formulated are sufficient, it is said, to keep local builders busy for some months to come. There is an unusually large number of residences in course of construction now, and many others have been determined on.

Home Has Novel Features

One of the most attractive residences recently completed in the city, and one which embodies some novel features in the way of comfort, is that of O. M. Robbins, at 1 street and Wellington avenue, which will be occupied by the family in the course of the next week. The structure is of two stories, of a modified Old English style of architecture, and the exterior of the first story is finished in shingles. The second story being in shingles. The house contains seven rooms, screen porch on both floors, and bath.

Entrance is through a pergola to a tiled porch, with brick facing and brick columns. The front door leads directly into a large living room, which is flanked on one side by the dining room and on another by the library-den, folding doors being so arranged that the three may be thrown into one. These rooms are handsomely finished in oak, the dining room having a built-in buffet, also in oak. Instead of having the hall and stairway at the front, it is placed in the rear of the center of the house, and so arranged that it opens directly into every room on the first floor except the dining thus giving a convenient entrance from either end of the house. The convenience of this arrangement is readily appreciated on viewing the house. Beneath the entire house is a basement, cemented and plastered, containing the furnace and instantaneous gas heater. The house was completed at a cost of about $5000.

New Homes Planned

F. W. Opp this week completed plans for an $1800 six-room bungalow to be erected for P. Etchison on E street. It is to be modernly finished inside and out. Mr. Opp has also made plans for a six-room bungalow to be erected for Mr. Travis, a recent comer to the city, on Broadway south of Chestnut, at a cost of $2000. He has also completed plans for a $1600 residence to be erected by R. B. Newcomer on F street, near Wellington.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE ACTIVITY SCENE

Fullerton Tribune: A general idea of the magnitude of the scale of the new Fullerton Union High School may now be obtained by anyone who visits the site of the school on Chapman avenue between Pomona and Harvard.

The contractor has been employing about forty men, up to this week, but the force has been reduced to about twenty-five until the concrete mixer is in operation again.

The concrete foundations for the six class rooms has been poured, and the forms already removed from three of these buildings, preparatory to the commencing of the bricklaying. The bricklayers will be at work by next week, when the structures will go up very rapidly.

The forms for the foundation of the study hall, which is the large building in the center of the site, are being completed this week and the concrete will be poured in a few days.

To the north and east of the study hall the foundation trenches are being dug for the big auditorium and choral hall building, the seating capacity of which will be 1200.

Work on the foundation of the central heating plant is also being started this week. The site for the gymnasium has been staked off and gravel to be used in laying the cement floor in part of this building is being hauled.

Henry A. Brightly is foreman of construction on the buildings for the general contractor, and C. H. Smith of Placentia is the inspector for the school board.

The work on seven of the buildings, the class rooms and the study hall is being carried on so that these structures will be finished first.

That the site is the best that could have been chosen and that the buildings will be an imposing and attractive group which would do credit to a city of several times the size of Fullerton may be appreciated readily by the chance visitor.

The contractor seems to be having trouble in getting sufficient water for the concrete mixer, and the directors are considering investing in a private water plant for the high school.

A site for a reservoir is being sought. When the school opens in the new plant a considerable supply of water will be required to flood the lawns and take care of the ground which will later be devoted to agriculture.

The directors are investigating whether it will not be cheaper for the school to own its private plant than to buy of the water company.

BIRNBAUM RANCH BRINGS GOOD PRICE

Orange News: The J. L. Birnbaum five-acre ranch on North Glassell street, was sold yesterday for $8000 to L. H. Sparkman, a Mississippi man, who recently arrived in this vicinity. The ranch is set to two-year-old lemons and valencias. The George M. Hoenes Realty Company handled the sale.

Mr. Sparkman will leave tomorrow for Mississippi in order to dispose of all interests in that state before settling in California. He does not expect to return before next December and Mr. Birnbaum will retain possession of the ranch until that time.

Frank Crawford has recently sold 17 acres of his ranch near the foothills. Mr. Crawford is now busily engaged planting trees on other parts of his ranch.

SUB-DIVISIONS AT GARDEN GROVE

Reiss Addition Lots Are to be Sold at Auction—Notes of Progress

GARDEN GROVE, May 10.—Garden Grove is to be congratulated on the fact that it has some enterprising business men who believe in the wonderful possibilities of that busy little city, and are willing to spend their money on it. For a long time Garden Grove has suffered from the lack of suitable building lots where people of moderate circumstances might buy themselves a home and pay for it on the installment plan. This want has been supplied in the subdivision work which has been done in the last month. Garden Grove has always had plenty of acres in and near there, but now one-half acre, quarter-acre and building lots right in the center of town have been provided in the Cook addition, which is said to have been greeted with a wonderful sale, and the more recent opening of the Reiss addition, which, according to announcement in another part of the paper, takes place Saturday afternoon in the form of an auction sale starting at 1 o'clock.

This Reiss addition lies in the very heart of the city, and was formerly known as the Roy McKee place. The tract is to be divided into half acres, quarter acres and lots with water piped to each lot. The tract will be graded and put in first-class shape as well.

The tract has recently been purchased from Roy McKee by Samuel Reiss of Los Angeles, who has successfully sold subdivisions in towns all over the United States. He has Angeles very extensively, but also all through this county, and the advertising value which Garden Grove will receive from it would be hard to estimate. It is certain, however, that a large number of people will be attracted here and will build themselves homes, and the business of the town will be benefited, and at the same time make it more of a little city for those who already live there. One thing is certain and that is that anybody that buys a lot in this tract will not get a gold brick, for, from a quarter-acre or half-acre, there are many ways in which any industrious family can earn a great part of their living. The water supply is unlimited and of a very good quality.

At the auction sale which starts at 1 p. m., on the tract, you will find Col. D. A. Whitaker, the genial auctioneer, who has formed a large circle of friends in Orange county during the last year that he has been conducting auction sales of various kinds.

According to the announcement in this advertisement the property will be sold on terms of one-fourth down, and balance at $10 a month at 7 per cent interest, or 5 per cent discount for cash. A big free lunch and refreshments will be served on the ground.

FIRM FOUNDATION

Nothing Can Undermine it in Santa Ana

People are sometimes slow to recognize true merit, and they cannot be blamed, for so many have been humbugged in the past. The experience of hundreds of Santa Ana residents, expressed publicly through newspapers and other sources, places Doan's Kidney Pills on a firm foundation here.

E. O. McKinney, 824 E. Third St., Santa Ana, Cal., says: "For over a year I suffered from pains in my sides, and it seemed as if a knife were being thrust into me. I thought that the trouble was caused by heavy lifting, but I was unable to get relief. Acting on the suggestion of a party who had used Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Dean's Drug Store (now Wheeler & Mateer's Drug Store). Finding relief from their use, I continued taking them and it was not long before the pain had ceased. The passages of the kidney secretions were also regulated and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Just in, several dozen of the latest hinges in Bungalow Note—a handsome line to choose from—at Chandler's, 510-516 North Main St.

Improvements Being Made

The Arch Beach Heights Company yesterday started a force of six men and teams to work on the tract laying out and grading streets. All street work is being done by the company without expense to the owners. Orange County has greatly improved the county road leading to Arch Beach by widening it and cutting down the grades. This county road it is understood, will be graded in the near future and which will make it one of the best scenic roads in the county and a fine drive for motorists.

Lots Selling Fast

The original subdivision of the Arch Beach Heights Company, of 1800 lots, was entirely sold last year and up to date about 250 lots in the new subdivision have been sold. There are still about one-half of the lots in the new tract that have not been sold. These unsold lots are scattered all through the tract and many of them would be choice of the entire subdivision. Lots range in price from $75.00 upward and are selling fast.

Many Will Build Soon

Miss Jane Adams has lumber on the ground for a six-room bungalow.

Frank Wheeler of Claremont, another lot purchaser, will build early this season.

Mrs. Justice of Los Angeles has her plans drawn and the contract let for a ten-room house.

Mrs. Mendenhall of Los Angeles, a recent purchaser of a lot, will build on it at once.

A. M. Green of Riverside has decided to build on the tract this summer.

There are doubtless many others of the hundreds of lot purchasers who will build during the coming summer at Arch Beach, for nowhere are there more picturesque surroundings than are to be found here.

Those who want a beach home, where there is a grand view of the hills and ocean and where the values have not yet advanced beyond the first cost of subdivision, will do well to investigate Arch Beach. Write or call on the Arch Beach Heights Company at either of above addresses.

NEW SUBDIVISION PLAN ANNOUNCED

Fullerton Tribune: Important moves took place in realty circles this week in Fullerton, as the result of which a new high-class residence subdivision will be placed on the market.

The Hanst tract, located three blocks from Spadra and lying between East Commonwealth and Chapman avenues, has been taken over by B. G. Balcom, president of the First National Bank, and J. W. Newell of Placentia, who will subdivide the twenty-five acres into acre tracts and town lots.

A two-acre tract located in the new fifth block, fronting on Commonwealth, and at the southeast corner, has been purchased by R. S. Gregory, who will erect a $5000 home thereon.

Mr. Gregory has sold his fine home on South Spadra to E. Livingston of Stafford County, Kansas, who will move to this city shortly. Mr. Livingston is a wealthy Kansan, who has become interested in Southern California opportunities.

Two new streets will be laid out in the Hanst tract and the extension of the city eastward will be given another impetus. On the Commonwealth frontage there is a row of fine palms, which will make the new subdivision especially attractive to many.

Building restrictions will be placed on the lots, insuring that a substantial class of houses will be erected there in the future.

Realty men generally predict that the building of the new high school and the improvements contemplated by the city will bring about a great growth in Fullerton within the next two years, outstripping the record of the past five.

Practically all lots in the new subdivision in the Central tract have been sold.

PANTRY SALE

The Unitarian ladies will have a cooked food sale at Remberg's store, corner Fourth and Bush, on Saturday, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

A MASONIC TEMPLE AT ANAHEIM SOON

Anaheim Gazette: A notable transfer of realty was consummated this week, when the Masonic lodge purchased from General J. O. Royer his property at the corner of Center and Emily streets at a consideration of $12,000. The property extends 140 feet on Center by 120 on Emily street. The purchase is made for the purpose of erecting thereon a magnificent Masonic temple, which will probably be three stories in height, at a cost approximating $25,000. Such headway have the committees in charge of the work made during the past that negotiations were closed before the general public was aware that the deal was in contemplation. Less than a month ago the Masonic lodge brought up for the first time the need for erection of a larger and more commodious hall. Committees were named, one on subscription and another on site and building, and with such speed were their movements marked that at a subsequent meeting announcement was made that several thousand dollars had been subscribed and options taken upon several building sites. Last week it was announced that $5000 had been subscribed, and that double that amount was actually in sight. To cap the climax of negotiations, announcement on Monday that papers had been signed consummating the sale.

It is the purpose of the Masonic lodge to proceed immediately to the organization of a joint stock company, which will not be limited to members of the order, but citizens generally will be asked to subscribe for stock in a home enterprise which is absolutely on the square, and makes for the upbuilding of the city.

NEW SUBDIVISION FOR SOUTH SANTA ANA

A new addition to South Santa Ana has recently been platted by W. G. Emmett who has the courage to back up his convictions with good money. The new subdivision lies between the Huntington Beach Electric line and the Southern Pacific railroad on the south side of Delhi road and is within easy walking distance of either the Southern California Sugar Company's factory or the new Santa Ana Co-operative Company plant, now being built.

Mr. Emmett reports that thus far his venture is meeting very satisfactory success. Of the lots sold to date at least one purchaser will build at once. J. Nichols who bought a business lot this week will begin at once the construction of a building which he will himself occupy with a stock of general merchandise.

Mr. Emmett has put up a small building which he will use as an office, dividing his time between his office at 308 East Fourth street and the one at the tract.

TUSTIN NEWS ITEMS

TUSTIN OFFERS INVESTMENT IN HOUSES

There is Need of Places That Can be Rented to New-comers and Employees

Tustin offers a very attractive place for some man with a little money to put up some small houses for rent. For the last year and more, it has been almost impossible for people coming into Tustin to find a suitable house to live in.

One case in particular is that of A. C. Gerrard, who has taken full ownership in the meat market. He has engaged a butcher who will take an interest in the business, but so far he has not been able to find a house to live in, and has been trying for over a week.

There seems to be no doubt but that such an investment would pay, for, owing to the packing houses requiring a great deal of help, and other enterprises which are coming to Tustin there would be steady demand for such houses to rent.

A great deal of building has been done in the last two years, but most all of the houses have been put up by people for their own use.

Desirable building lots close in to Tustin can be bought for from $300 to $600. If the past demand for houses continues such an investment ought to prove good.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP IN THE MEAT MARKET

The Tustin Meat Market, formerly owned by Dargatz and Gerrard, has been taken over entirely by A. C. Gerrard, he buying out the interest of Mr. Dargatz. Mr. Gerrard is running the market himself just at present until he has made final arrangements with a man to take charge. Mr. Gerrard is a successful butcher and has a shop in Santa Ana, one in Fullerton and one in Orange. His ad. appears in another part of the paper.

Mr. Dargatz, with his family, has gone north, above San Francisco. New Building Nearing Completion. The new building which will be occupied by the post office and barber shop is nearing completion. It will be a great improvement to Tustin when it is finished.

Mother's Meeting of W. C. T. U. The W. C. T. U. of Tustin met at the home of the president, Mrs. W. L. Shatto. The spacious rooms were well filled with the members and their friends. A goodly number of mothers and their little ones was very encouraging as this was a mother's meeting and was arranged to be especially helpful to the young mothers. After the singing of hymns and the reading of scripture and a prayer by Mrs. Spence, she gave a very encouraging report of the work among the Spanish people.

The union went on record as being in favor of endorsing an amendment to the constitution against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. Roll-call was responded to with beautiful memory gems selected for the occasion. An interesting paper on the "Foundation of the Home" was read by Mrs. Vandermuellen and the expression of many great statesmen on the value of the home was quoted. Dorothy Utt gave a pleasing violin solo accompanied by her sister, Gertrude; also a rich treat was in store for the ladies in the singing of little Evelyn Willard and little Margaret Cranston. Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Miller and others read interesting selections on the topic, "Mother." Wilhelmina Bennett played a piano solo and Miss Burns gave three whistling solos that were very much enjoyed. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Shatto expressed the feeling of the union when she said: "We are very glad indeed to have so many mothers with us today." The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Brown. Subject: "Temperance Legislation."

Mrs. Anderson of Santa Ana, a very able and pleasing speaker, will be present.

SALOON PROFITS DECREASING DECLARES LIQUOR DEALER

Los Angeles Wholesale Liquor Dealer
Says Drunkenness Slowly But Surely Dying Out

"The human race is now being educated in the cradle instead of at the grave and the result is that at least one-half of the liquor dealers in Los Angeles are not making a dollar over running expenses," recently declared Henry Laub, one of the oldest wholesale liquor dealers in the city and secretary of the Los Angeles Liquor Industries Association, says the Los Angeles Examiner. Mr. Laub's remarks were occasioned by a late dispatch from Chicago which stated that fully 500 of the 7000 liquor dealers there were preparing to give up their licenses. "People don't drink nowadays like they used to," continued Mr. Laub, "and the result is that the liquor traffic is gradually decreasing. The obvious reason is that the modern generation has been taught from childhood that drinking to excess is wrong. "The population of this city four or five years ago was in the neighborhood of 200,000. It has more than doubled itself today. Were conditions now as they used to be there should have been a marked increase in the liquor traffic. But there hasn't. Business today is what it was then. There has not been a cent of increase. The only logical conclusion for this is that people are awakening to the fact that too much liquor is harmful.

Youthful Teaching Wins
"You can't take a man fifty years old who for years has used intoxicating liquors and make him mount the 'water wagon.' But when children are first able to comprehend things, teach them that they should not drink or drink only moderately and you have solved the liquor question. "In this city today there are 200 saloons and about 90 wholesale liquor houses. Look up the accounts of these concerns, and you will find that none of them are making a cent more than they did ten years ago. During that period the population has increased in a marvelous manner. Drunkenness is slowly but surely dying out." Mr. Laub said, from his study of the question, he believed that the American people today drank about two-thirds less alcoholic liquors than they did three years ago. "Of course," he said, "I do not mean to say that this dwindling of the trade will continue until dealers are forced out of the business, but I do believe that it will continue, as the people become more educated, until it reaches the stage that it should. Yet, on the other hand, as the people become enlightened, many are beginning to see that there is no harm in moderately drinking—at meals, for example. "More Liquor in Homes "Records of the wholesale business show that more liquor is being sold in the homes than in the saloons. I recently read that in Chicago the 'water wagon' has become so popular that a number of saloonkeepers are preparing to go out of business. "But such a condition is right," he added. "The better class of dealers here are content with the situation and with the present ordinances governing the sale of liquor. They have taken no steps to increase or boost the trade, and I know of none that is contemplated."

Fullerton, Placentia and Oil
Wells Are Scheduled For Speaking Today

FULLERTON, May 10.—Taft Republicans have meetings today at Fullerton, Placentia and the oil wells. This afternoon E. A. Tucker and other Los Angeles speakers and Charles C. Chapman of this city will address a mass meeting here. The Taft Club will then go in automobiles to Olanda and the oil wells, where other meetings will take place. On Monday a mass meeting will be held here in the bank hall, at which Mrs. Ella T. Westland of Uplands, one of the presidential delegates on the Taft ticket, will speak. One of the important moves in reality circles this week is the transfer of the twenty-acre Hanat tract in the east part of the city to a syndicate composed of B. G. Balcom, president of the first National Bank, and J. W. Newell of Placentia, which will subdivide it into here tracts and town lots. The consideration reported is $35,000. The entire tract is a walnut grove. John Marshall, who has been in the jewelry business here for many years, has sold his store to A. G. Dutton of Downey. Mr. Marshall will devote his attention to his orange grove. Miss Esther Newell leaves in a few days for New York City and Smith College at Northampton, Mass., where she will attend the commencement exercises. She will remain on the Atlantic Coast during the summer.

—This will certify that a meeting will be called at the first National Bank of Tustin Saturday evening, May 11th, 1912, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of selecting a committee to wait upon the Pacific Electric to present the petition for the extension of their system from the proposed subway on Fourth street, Santa Ana, to Tustin. A good, representative meeting is requested.
